Master of Social Science

Become a global thinker, policy shaper, and strategic leader with our Master of Social Sciences program, where deep social insight and global awareness meet innovation, governance, and sustainable impact.

In the modern era of worldwide transformation, the field of social sciences has taken centre stage in understanding and shaping the global narrative. With complex political systems, economic challenges, and evolving societal structures, professionals must possess a well-rounded, analytical, and human-centred perspective. At East Bridge University, we've built our Master of Social Sciences program to give students a strong foundation in theory and the practical skills needed to make sense of global issues, shape policy, and lead with clarity and intention. The modern social scientist is not just an observer but a change-maker - bridging the gap between communities, governments, and institutions through informed decision-making, critical thinking, and sustainable strategies that impact real lives
